ROTATION OF MFN EDITORS

‡

The four editors of MFN rotate according to a process outlined in the Bylaws of the Society for Medieval Feminist Scholarship as follows, "One new editor per year will be elected by the Advisory Board, as one editor per year finishes her/his term" (see MFN 14, Fall 1992, for a copy of the Bylaws). Editors of MFN are elected from the membership of the Advisory Board. Anyone wishing to run for a position on the Advisory Board should contact a member of the Nominating Committee.

As of July 1, 1994, Ruth Mazo Karras (History Department, Temple University) has joined the editorial board. We extend a warm welcome to her!

The editors of MFN also want to express special thanks to Beth Robertson, one of the Newsletter's founding editors, for her many years of committed and enthusiastic service. It is quite possible that MFN might never have come to life without her insistence.

ELECTION OF NEW ADVISORY BOARD MEMBER

(to replace Ruth Mazo Karras)

‡

Since we received NO votes in the election for a new member to the Advisory Board (announced in MFN Spring 1994), we are calling once again for your vote. PLEASE RETURN THE BALLOT INCLUDED AT THE BACK OF THIS ISSUE AND ELECT THE PERSON YOU WANT MOST TO REPRESENT YOU ON THE BOARD.

KALAMAZOO 1995

‡

For a list of sessions to be sponsored by the Society for Medieval Feminist Scholarship at this year's Kalamazoo Conference see "Note from the President" in this issue.

COLLOQUIUM ON "GENDER IN THE TONGUE OF THE FATHERS."

‡

"Gender in the Tongue of the Fathers: Ideology and the Subject in Medieval Latin Discourse." This Colloquium will be held May 8 and 9 at the University of Toronto. Ten papers will explore applications of current gender studies to medieval Latin texts, as well as the problematics of medieval Latin's representations, by itself and by modern scholars, as the monologic tongue of patriarchal ideology. Registration $30, $15 students and unemployed. Please contact David Townsend, Centre for Medieval Studies, University of Toronto, 39 Queen's Park Cr. E., Toronto, Ontario M5S 2C3, Canada, (416) 978-6776, townsend@epas.utoronto.ca.
