Being a woman is not a pre-existing condition

The search term is the hashtag used: #whc

It was messages about women's health care, and the line that 'made it go' was "being a woman is not a pre-existing condition." I found out about it via a description of a rally that seems to have started it. The url for the original site is http://www.zimbio.com/pictures/caqBpJhH_QF/National+Women+Law+Center+Rally

When the search started the first message found was November 15, 2009 at 11:57.

It has not been a particularly popular message stream. Only 945 messages used #whc between November 15 and April 3, 2010.

There is one modest spike at the beginning and another spike in March 2010 that are tweets about the World Horror Convention. It would be easy to lose those; just cut off the series a bit earlier.

The data files are #whc.xml and whc.txt which is set up to read into Excel as tabbed columns.

© G. R. Boynton, 2010
April 3, 2010