SHARON LAKE earned a Ph.D. in American Studies from the University of Iowa in 2010. Her research focuses on the role of local activists in creating social change. She is currently revising her dissertation, "The Accidental Feminist: Iowa's Breastfeeding Firefighter and the National Struggle for Workplace Equity," a case study of Iowa City's first woman firefighter. In her non-academic life, she organizes grassroots partisan political efforts in her neighborhood on the east side of Iowa City and still has her day job with a company in Kalona, Iowa, that supports small family farms.

DAVID ZWART is associate professor of history at Grand Valley State University in Allendale, Michigan. He received his B.A. from Dordt College in Sioux Center and his Ph.D. from Western Michigan University. He has published articles on Dutch American history and served as president of the Association for the Advancement of Dutch-American Studies. Research was supported a SHSI Research Grant and by the Center for Scholarly and Creative Excellence as well as the Office of Undergraduate Research and student researcher Claire Zuwala at GVSU.
