Walt Whitman

At a sale at Swann Galleries in New York on September 12, 1991, this previously unknown postcard was auctioned for $440, Sale 1568, #272.

In 1883, Karl Knortz (1841-1918), the author of many articles on German-American affairs, was living in New York City (Corr., 3:289n). In his letters to Whitman that year Knortz frequently included “German renderings” of poems in Leaves of Grass. Later he assisted T. W. H. Rolleston in Grashalme (Zurich, 1889), which “marks the real beginning of Whitman’s influence” in Germany (Gay Wilson Allen, ed., Walt Whitman Abroad [Syracuse: Syracuse University Press, 1955], 17.)
