

1974

The Moving Out

John Morgan

Follow this and additional works at: <https://ir.uiowa.edu/iowareview>

Part of the Creative Writing Commons

---

Recommended Citation

Morgan, John. "The Moving Out." The Iowa Review 5.4 (1974): 22-22. Web.
Available at: <https://doi.org/10.17077/0021-065X.1759>

This Contents is brought to you for free and open access by Iowa Research Online. It has been accepted for inclusion in The Iowa Review by an authorized administrator of Iowa Research Online. For more information, please contact lib-ir@uiowa.edu.

THE MOVING OUT

After sunset when the grieving move further into their grief
and the stars are revealed by their master, the darkness,
I have left the cities of the blind
along tracks as straight and cold as the north.

Here I sit listening on the shore of a white and glacial distance.
The voice of a girl like an opening flower begins to curl forth from the inner shell of the mind.
So many nights I have waited.

In cities the darkness gobbled me up and spat me out,
my fears scuttled back and forth outside the door.
Now the first birds waken and peck among fresh snow.
The light begins to open
with a pink and icy whisper along her cheek.