Eyebrows Made of Crows / Samuel Makidemewabe

If you looked hard enough CROWS were there! in those eyebrows that lived on his forehead. Thick crow eyebrows, yes, and when this boy yawned those crows went UP
then landed back down over his eyes.

When he began to get tired, to yawn, the crows WOKE UP MORE.

This happened when he laughed hard too.

One time joking stories were being told, one after the other. This boy was laughing, LAUGHING at each one. The crows were rising and landing ALL THE TIME on his forehead. The harder the laughing got, the higher those crows went!
We got worried they would fly away.
So we put maple-pitch on those eyebrow crows, to keep their feet stuck home.

Slapped the Water / Samuel Makidemewabe

This girl knew pond noises well, beaver tail-slapping and the sound of trees falling into water because of beavers. You could find her footprints going down to the pond and sometimes see her listening IN THE POND through a reed.

She must have heard other water noises that way, but I didn't ask.

I didn't ask her about that, no, but once I saw her slap the water with her hand and laugh.
Later, I looked in her teeth
