

1976

I Have Everything

Carlos Moises

David W. Young

Follow this and additional works at: <https://ir.uiowa.edu/iowareview>

Part of the Creative Writing Commons

---

Recommended Citation

Moises, Carlos and David W. Young. "I Have Everything." The Iowa Review 7.2 (1976): 46-46. Web.
Available at: <https://doi.org/10.17077/0021-065X.2034>

This Contents is brought to you for free and open access by Iowa Research Online. It has been accepted for inclusion in The Iowa Review by an authorized administrator of Iowa Research Online. For more information, please contact lib-ir@uiowa.edu.

I Have Everything

I have everything I don't want.
Losing is nothing but the interval between waiting and having nothing.
Which melody is this
in the space around me?

I have everything, I want nothing.
My heart ignores
the rhythms of morning
in everything around me. However,
my steps continue—
searching for what?

I have everything—
the night held in my chest,
the music of my steps,
the grass, the road, the distance
covered by an unforgettable melody.
I don't want any more than I have.
A song flows in the empty air.

I have everything—
and the birds that run from my eyes
to pay respect
on the horizon
to the cold new morning.

Translated by the author and David W. Young