

1983

On the Possible Death of Monsieur Smith

Patrick Lawler

Follow this and additional works at: <https://ir.uiowa.edu/iowareview>

Part of the Creative Writing Commons

---

Recommended Citation

Lawler, Patrick. "On the Possible Death of Monsieur Smith." The Iowa Review 13.3 (1982): 37-37. Web.
Available at: <https://doi.org/10.17077/0021-065X.2934>

This Contents is brought to you for free and open access by Iowa Research Online. It has been accepted for inclusion in The Iowa Review by an authorized administrator of Iowa Research Online. For more information, please contact lib-ir@uiowa.edu.

On the Possible Death of Monsieur Smith
Patrick Lawler

He's been trying to tell me he's died. The evidence
Came in for years, but I ignored it. He lined
His office walls with burial jars from Egypt.
I examine his memos for clues of his demise:
Requiems for a clavichord he composed in secret,
Passages from a Tibetan book he copied during
Lunch. His habits confirm this: his desk faces
The west; a tile removed from the roof is kept
In a locked drawer. I explore the odds
And the ends, his jump to conclusion, the dum-de-dum
Of ledgers written in red ochre. I speak
To his possible widow about his possible demise. It
Lets him do the things he does so well unnoticed.