

Fred G. Henigbaum

ISSN 0003-4827

No known copyright restrictions.

Recommended Citation

"Fred G. Henigbaum." The Annals of Iowa 14 (1924), 240-240.

Available at: <https://doi.org/10.17077/0003-4827.4788>

Hosted by Iowa Research Online

served until 1877. He engaged in the abstract and loan business, and followed that through most of his active career. He was also admitted to the bar and acted as a consulting lawyer. He was president of the First National Bank of Nevada. In 1899 he was elected senator and served in the Twenty-eighth and Twenty-ninth general assemblies. He was again elected senator in 1908 and served in the Thirty-third and Thirty-fourth assemblies.

DANIEL MCCARTHY was born in Leeds County, Ontario, Canada, January 11, 1833, and died at Ames, Iowa, September 28, 1921. He attended common school, but quit to be apprenticed in the carpenter's trade. In 1854 he emigrated to Iowa where he worked at his trade in Marshall County two years and for the following few years worked at the sawmill business and at carpentering in Story County. He was active in getting the Northwestern Railway to pass through Ames, and became a member of the first town council of the village. He had much to do with getting the Iowa State College located at Ames, and drove the first stake and leveled off the grounds for the first two buildings of the college. He devoted his spare time to reading law and was admitted to practice in 1870. At different times during the following forty years he was associated in practice with John L. Stevens, G. A. Underwood, C. G. Lee, and J. Y. Luke. He acquired considerable land and became a large importer of horses, crossing the ocean eighteen times on that business. He was a man of ability, great energy, and of much use to his community.

FRED G. HENIGBAUM was born in Albion, New York, June 10, 1864, and died in Davenport, Iowa, September 7, 1921. He was brought by his parents, Adolph and Elizabeth Henigbaum, in their removal to Davenport in 1875, and attended common school until he was graduated from grammar school when he entered commercial life. For some years his work in various lines took him away from Davenport, but in 1895 he returned and assisted in organizing the Davenport Furniture & Carpet Company. He was successful in business and was actively identified with various commercial clubs and organizations. He took little part in politics, but was prevailed upon by the Republicans to become a candidate for the Senate in 1914, and was elected and served in the Thirty-sixth and Thirty-seventh general assemblies.

WILL DRURY was born in Clinton County, Iowa, October 2, 1862, and died at his home in Early, February 9, 1916. Interment was at Odebolt. He removed to Sac County in 1880 and from then until a few months before his death, he followed farming. He became an extensive feeder and shipper of livestock. He took an active interest in public affairs, held different township offices, and in 1906 was elected representative and was re-elected in 1908, serving in the Thirty-second and Thirty-third general assemblies.

Copyright of Annals of Iowa is the property of State of Iowa, by & through the State Historical Society of Iowa and its content may not be copied or emailed to multiple sites or posted to a listserv without the copyright holder's express written permission. However, users may print, download, or email articles for individual use.