

1998

So What's Wrong?

Ruth Stone

Follow this and additional works at: <https://ir.uiowa.edu/iowareview>

Part of the Creative Writing Commons

Recommended Citation

Stone, Ruth. "So What's Wrong?." The Iowa Review 28.3 (1998): 128-128. Web.
Available at: <https://doi.org/10.17077/0021-065X.5058>

This Contents is brought to you for free and open access by Iowa Research Online. It has been accepted for inclusion in The Iowa Review by an authorized administrator of Iowa Research Online. For more information, please contact lib-ir@uiowa.edu.

Ruth Stone

SO WHAT'S WRONG?

Here it is, a green world,
and all of these millions
living in the dust.
It's like a dog with a chain
that's just as long as this worn path around the post.
How the dog loves the hand
that brings it water;
the voice up there
almost out of reach, that says,
"Here is your food.
Nice dog."
While it eats, like a dream,
the voice goes away,
and there is the path
around the post.
Joyful dog, something,
somewhere is so wonderful.
And at night the dog
lies down and its muscles
remember the ferns,
the hot smell of the field
sloping down hill;
the clouds breaking
and that light,
like mist, like smoke;
the strange reflected light
of a dead moon.