

2002

Hex

Steve Langan

Follow this and additional works at: <https://ir.uiowa.edu/iowareview>

Part of the Creative Writing Commons

Recommended Citation

Langan, Steve. "Hex." The Iowa Review 32.3 (2002): 150-150. Web.
Available at: <https://doi.org/10.17077/0021-065X.5622>

This Contents is brought to you for free and open access by Iowa Research Online. It has been accepted for inclusion in The Iowa Review by an authorized administrator of Iowa Research Online. For more information, please contact lib-ir@uiowa.edu.

STEVE LANGAN

Hex

The wheel is angry and so is the blade.
Blue afternoon patiently umbers.
It is the word contretemps that hurts; the word vicissitude. Beside me, the trained smile even as she naps, webbed skin on her elbow,
the dilemma of a small, receding contusion.
I keep looking at some of the passing items
but mostly at myself in the beveled mirror—
when she is not looking—like a flashlight trained deep into a well's awful opening,
an inch of sorrowful water, a piece of metal,
the whole summer's trapped thunder.