

2003

The Golem

Sean Singer

Follow this and additional works at: <https://ir.uiowa.edu/iowareview>

Part of the Creative Writing Commons

Recommended Citation

Singer, Sean. "The Golem." The Iowa Review 33.1 (2003): 101-101. Web.
Available at: <https://doi.org/10.17077/0021-065X.5698>

This Contents is brought to you for free and open access by Iowa Research Online. It has been accepted for inclusion in The Iowa Review by an authorized administrator of Iowa Research Online. For more information, please contact lib-ir@uiowa.edu.

SEAN SINGER

The Golem

...who killed the martyred man found reborn in silt and peat a fine tar-baby wrenched in a struggle his back curving like a little taut cello and a black rope around his neck his teeth battered as a worn-in porkpie fitted through the reeking smoke sounding out who killed me listen and hear his auburn strokes through the dragon-hail his broken muscle pink-black water over slippery fetus balls glossy as a fish in the longing play of the waves creosote resin sea singing who killed...