

2007

December

Jenny Bornholdt

Follow this and additional works at: <https://ir.uiowa.edu/iowareview>

Part of the Creative Writing Commons

Recommended Citation

Bornholdt, Jenny. "December." The Iowa Review 37.3 (2007): 143-143. Web.
Available at: <https://doi.org/10.17077/0021-065X.6322>

This Contents is brought to you for free and open access by Iowa Research Online. It has been accepted for inclusion in The Iowa Review by an authorized administrator of Iowa Research Online. For more information, please contact lib-ir@uiowa.edu.

December

We're all an uncle
down now
and hasn't the garden
gone mad—convolvulus
up to the top of the plum, weeds rampant through the rose.

You've spent too much time in the hospital
with its lines and lures, elbows grazed on the sheets,
someone always calling out for air or Ian

long to be home
in the everyday wreckage
of the kitchen, to wake
next to your husband,
dusty with sleep,
light shining
through his ears.