

2008

Sleeping the Sleep of the Dead

James Norcliffe

Follow this and additional works at: <https://ir.uiowa.edu/iowareview>

Part of the Creative Writing Commons

Recommended Citation

Norcliffe, James. "Sleeping the Sleep of the Dead." The Iowa Review 38.2 (2008): 61-61. Web.
Available at: <https://doi.org/10.17077/0021-065X.6457>

This Contents is brought to you for free and open access by Iowa Research Online. It has been accepted for inclusion in The Iowa Review by an authorized administrator of Iowa Research Online. For more information, please contact lib-ir@uiowa.edu.

Sleeping the Sleep of the Dead

A few miles north on Highway 13 is the village of Strawberry Point where can be found the largest statue of a strawberry in the world, although the point is not surely that the villagers possess this strawberry colossus—no, the point is how can they be so sure of this point, and I note that it is the largest statue of a strawberry in the world and not a statue of the largest strawberry in the world, or even in the universe for that matter, for if such a statue did actually exist it would be of course comparatively small and hardly worthy of remark, even were it mounted on a pink plinth in such an otherwise unremarkable place as Strawberry Point

a few miles north on Highway 13.