

2009

I By the Riverside

Jean Esteve

Follow this and additional works at: <https://ir.uiowa.edu/iowareview>

Part of the Creative Writing Commons

Recommended Citation

Esteve, Jean. "I By the Riverside." The Iowa Review 39.3 (2009): 134-134. Web.
Available at: <https://doi.org/10.17077/0021-065X.6761>

This Contents is brought to you for free and open access by Iowa Research Online. It has been accepted for inclusion in The Iowa Review by an authorized administrator of Iowa Research Online. For more information, please contact lib-ir@uiowa.edu.

JEAN ESTEVE

I By the Riverside

I walked and walked disturbing the river
that lurched alongside the walkers' road.

"No one has walked
so fast so far
so far as I remember,"
the river roared.

Rivers do not remember well.
Last year I walked
this far this fast myself.

A mind that's maimed
as much as mine, as you must know, has been,
needs months and months
of brisk walking.

I did not deign
to bicker, instead
I merely muttered,
"Hush, river. Go to bed."

And, indeed,
it quieted.