Winter 2012

Figure The Color Of The Wave She Watched

Emily Hunt

Follow this and additional works at: http://ir.uiowa.edu/iowareview

Part of the Creative Writing Commons

Recommended Citation

Available at: https://doi.org/10.17077/0021-065X.7217
EMILY HUNT

FIGURE THE COLOR OF THE WAVE SHE WATCHED

goodbye gone kin like water gone half, first self,
where is that friend
who happened to smoke
the first beautiful sky where are the hours
she filled to see sink
those hollow shapes made by wind, goodbye
cleared history, swept steps, goodbye what’s left
the weather, which leaves slap and fret to explain if only the weather
were how it was, the weather has nothing to do, goodbye lies I meant deeply goodbye to each
flowering shock
ahead in the garden
the garden was paper
a plan
stabbed by trees and then a stripped plot, goodbye little war after war
a cold goodnight to both ends of silence did it begin, did I skate past the omen, exquisite cautions my armor
I pretended to shed, dear blank reply, radical portrait hung on a cloud

girl with big shovel

inventing the flurry

oh lose me my snow