

Spring 2013

The Tunnel At Red Neck

Hugh Martin

Follow this and additional works at: <https://ir.uiowa.edu/iowareview>

Part of the Creative Writing Commons

---

Recommended Citation

Martin, Hugh. "The Tunnel At Red Neck." The Iowa Review 43.1 (2013): 10-10. Web.
Available at: <https://doi.org/10.17077/0021-065X.7280>

This Contents is brought to you for free and open access by Iowa Research Online. It has been accepted for inclusion in The Iowa Review by an authorized administrator of Iowa Research Online. For more information, please contact lib-ir@uiowa.edu.

THE TUNNEL AT RED CREEK

Home from the year-long tour
he walked the edge of Red Creek

into the tunnel of graffiti and tried to read the names of lovers.

Once, he'd skipped rocks here,
searched for frogs, made paths of stone

in the shallow waters
just to stand on the other side.

He remembered building dams for nothing;
tossing leaves downstream to watch them float;

hiding in the brush when cars drove by—
all those things

that put a boy through the day
when he, and it, have no end.