One Hundred Years of Cartooning: Iowa Comments on the World

Background
- Project focus is making primary sources accessible to the public.
- Darling cartoons and website provide a stable backing for the continuation of the project.
  - Jay N. Darling worked for the Register from 1906 to 1949.
  - Focus on: World Events, Politics (local, state and national), Popular Culture, Local Activities.
- My focus is to put cartoons of three other Des Moines Register cartoonists online.
  - Tom Carlisle
    - Worked for the Register as Darling’s assistant, then after Darling’s retirement 1949 to 1953.
  - Frank Miller
  - Brian Duffy
    - Worked for the Register from 1983 to 2008.

Method
- Choose Cartoons
  - Initial target 500 per cartoonist.
- Focus on:
  - World Events
  - Politics (local, state and national)
  - Popular Culture
  - Local Activities.
- Scan
  - High resolution, archival quality.
- Edit
  - Resize for web display.
- Upload
  - Publish to web with ContentDM Software.

Objective
- Cartoons simplify problems facing the world.
- They give a better view of what issues are important in the time period.
- Provide primary resources to researchers, teachers, students.
- Highlight important aspects in Iowa history shown in these cartoons.

The Des Moines Register

Uncle John Iowa: a Darling Trademark
July 5, 1935

It Isn’t the Heat, It’s the Humidity
July 5, 1935

Unc区别

Some of Us Are Fella, Some of Us Are
November 30, 1965

October 5, 1993

It’s Official, The Y2K Bug is History!
January 5, 2000

Frank Miller

- Unusually Tough Game Ahead
  - September 18, 1956

- Some of Us Are Fella, Some of Us Are
  - November 30, 1965

Tom Carlisle

- It Isn’t the Heat, It’s the Humidity
  - July 5, 1935

Brian Duffy

- (Untitled)
  - September 5, 1993

- (Untitled)
  - January 5, 2000

ICRU Fellow: Kayla Garvin
Olson Fellow: Colleen Kelley
ICRU Mentor: Sid Huttner

University of Iowa Libraries; Special Collections and University Archives