

1973

Listening to Music Alone

Kathleen Norris

Follow this and additional works at: <http://ir.uiowa.edu/iowareview>

 Part of the Creative Writing Commons

Recommended Citation

Norris, Kathleen. "Listening to Music Alone." The Iowa Review 4.2 (1973): 21-21. Web.
Available at: <https://doi.org/10.17077/0021-065X.1504>

This Contents is brought to you for free and open access by Iowa Research Online. It has been accepted for inclusion in The Iowa Review by an authorized administrator of Iowa Research Online. For more information, please contact lib-ir@uiowa.edu.

LISTENING TO MUSIC ALONE
for D.

Like the tree
No one hears falling, or, as Emily put it,
The sherry the guest leaves in the glass:
Time without you

Old photographs, like good intentions,
The sound of a clock.
How it is in here, how one night passes
Through a needle's eye:
Incapacity first, extravagant desires

Mysterious city,
There are so many of us:
Waterpipes have a voice,
The refrigerator dances in the corner
A wrong number dialed by a drunk
Is my one affirmation

SITTING WITH MY ARMS AROUND MY KNEES

Sitting this way
Because I have to hold on to something;
The soul has desires, but the body has none,
I don't even know if where I go
Is anyplace you've been: doubting castle

My gentleman prefers loose ends,
The excitement of overturning things;
The connoisseur of kisses wants me to chew
a mouthful of ice before each kiss

My need is so great,
A mirror I turn to the wall.
Sometimes the locks give way,
But not now