1979

A Song: [When a Man Loves a Woman]; When a Man Loves a Woman by Percy Sledge; When a Man Loves a Woman by Percy Sledge; When a Man Loves a Woman

David Shapiro

Follow this and additional works at: https://ir.uiowa.edu/iowareview

Part of the Creative Writing Commons

Recommended Citation

Shapiro, David. "A Song: [When a Man Loves a Woman]; When a Man Loves a Woman by Percy Sledge; When a Man Loves a Woman by Percy Sledge; When a Man Loves a Woman." The Iowa Review 10.1 (1979): 48-52. Web.
Available at: https://doi.org/10.17077/0021-065X.2444
A Song · David Shapiro

When a man loves a woman the words withdraw to the palace he demands his words and rejoices seeing them neighing into his face the words in whiteness the words race the hasty words stand around and excite their breasts

When a man loves a woman he wraps his coat of words about his shoulders scaled with gold and white mountain words at the same time he fits for wearing both his word and his world

When a man loves a woman
he seizes the strong word with violence and says trembling Now Oh word never disappearing now the world is present and the maximum Actor wrote you (not spoken)

When a man loves a woman the words preside over the pool and the sounding streams the king of the sky spits and the nymph grace note of rivers grace note to my mind you know I have preferred you alone to all placed you willingly in a part of my words

WHEN A MAN LOVES A WOMAN BY PERCY SLEDGE

When a man loves a woman Hospitals are supplied with beds and clothing If she is life nearer the front
He is fitted with beds kitchens and dispensaries

When a man
the sick and wounded upon their hands like wagons He gives his ambulance he is incapable of keeping up with the troops

When a man
the Indian ambulances are carts drawn by bullocks and mules Very strongly made they are holding two men lying down and four sitting up alert as a driver
When a man loves a woman the wounded man is transferred to a hospital ship in the comfortable swinging cot in the airy ward and the ice flies into the hot wind and the bed rises on the shore

Yes when a man loves a woman the bonds of union are drawn considerably closer In the War however the present and the past overlap and the skeleton foot of time

WHEN A MAN LOVES A WOMAN BY PERCY SLEDGE

When a man loves a woman by Percy Sledge he is like a polygonal block of limestone She is the city and the city wall measuring 2½m Two of his gates are still to some extent preserved

When a man loves a woman Remains can be traced and the traces are finely ruined Huge blocked halls arise Two approaches to the citadel added and blocked on the north

When a man loves a woman a genus of the trees Parts of the world are fruit Used for good and light And the man is called the candlenut

When a man loves a woman she is the vanishing and the lace and the lake and the seeds contained in the decorated Museo de Ville The absent town has a picturesque aspect yes

Yes when a man loves a woman he wants the ruler who would be noble the Swabian line His nobles whom he tried to cow by sporadic acts of violence rebelled against him leaving a will and Sancho and Seville and civil war

When a man loves a woman

When a man loves a woman
He has fallen by the art of his stepmother and drawn apart by frightened automobiles has satisfied his father's hit and run punishment
When a man
he has burdened himself with equal arms to outstrip the wind on an automobile like a spy approached the camps of the Greeks daring to demand the automobile of Achilles

When a man loves a woman he beholds her far off like a headquarters first having pursued her through the void through the long void with a short arrow

When a man loves a woman he stops his Toyota and leaps from his front seat and comes up to her half dead with a safety belt and his neck being pressed with her foot he wrenches the wrench from her right hand

And dips it shining in his alto jugulo (throat)
When a man loves a woman moreover he adds these words You lie stretched out like Italy and the wind shakes her hair flying into the opposing comb

When a man loves a woman each one withdraws into its own space a signal being given they plant their spears into the ground and lean upon their shadows then the mothers pour out with zeal

When a man loves a woman the unarmed populace and the powerless sold men beseige them the snowy words lie on the oaken typewriter the black words follow the combs combing out your hair

When a man loves a woman then the tiger is hungry and you who composed the songs of shepherds and were audacious stop singing beneath the terminal the bus station and the goons (cherish me, Naples!)
and the ninth morning displays you homeless as a funeral offering
When a man loves a woman his neck is untouched and suddenly the words are humming in his carcass like bees and his dissolved entrails and breaking through the page and immense clouds of words are drawn out

WHEN A MAN LOVES A WOMAN

When a man loves a woman he attacks the fleet, which lay concealed and commands his rejoicing associates to bring fire and glowing he fills his hand with a burning pain

When a man loves a woman he knows the sound and trembling flees back he flies and drives the dark band across the television set as when a constellation passes over alas cardiologists

When a man loves a woman they rejoice sprinkled with the blood of his brothers and exchange their homes and sweet dwelling and seeking another bed lying beneath another bed

When a man loves a woman
I beg this last favor (pity the seething surface) does she hear any words which when she shall have granted to me I will dismiss her gratified in my words sisters

When a man loves a woman by Percy Sledge

When a man loves a woman
his right hand is torn from his horse and bears him off and a story is raised then the window-shade presses in on him and the Venetian blinds beat the air with their slats

When a man loves a woman grapes increase hair and spontaneous flourishes elsewhere but the stones are established in the empty globe whence woman a hardy race were produced
When a man loves a woman the prospect may feed the hungry mind but the land will not give also you will ask what depth the trenches Do not commit the vine even to the light furrow the earth is low

When a man loves a woman it sinks its root into the Hall and for many years strong arms and branches move this way and that Nor let your yard incline nor plant the lazy hazel among the vines nor break the twigs (love the earth)