PADMA PERERA has returned to Bombay this year after having taught at The University of Colorado. A collection entitled Dr. Salaam & Other Stories of India was published by the Capra Press.
ANTHONY PETROSKY's chapbook, The Look of Things, is available from Inland Boat/Porch Publications. He is the editor of Slow Loris Press.

OLIVER STEELE teaches a very popular seminar on the comma in Shakespeare. His first publication was a note in The Explicator on a comma in I Henry IV. He wrote a brief article in American Literature on what Ellen Glasgow thought about Gertrude Stein, which was not much. He discovered how the pages were folded in the first edition of The Scarlet Letter and published his discovery in The Library. He likes Bach contadas and doesn't like Elvis Costello.

DAVID WAGONER edits Poetry Northwest. He is the author of ten novels and twelve books of poems. Francis Coppola has just finished filming his novel The Escape Artist to be released this winter.

CHARLOTTE WARD edited the unpublished translations of Ezra Pound as a Ph.D. dissertation at Harvard University. She now teaches at The University of Connecticut.

MICHAEL WILKERSON studied writing at Indiana and Johns Hopkins Universities. He edits Indiana Writes.

POETRY FROM VIRGINIA

The Hours of Morning Poems by William Carpenter

“These are poems that confirm us in our human frailty, our questing appetities, our need always to search our the germ of order in the chaos of emotion. They stand up well to scrutiny.” — Maxine Kumin

80 pages, $8.95

Following Gravity
Poems by James Applewhite

“James Applewhite’s poems are imaginative, lucid, and deep. A moving human voice comes through them with grave and memorable tonality; their resonance is great.” — James Dickey

71 pages, $7.95

WHERE SPARROWS WORK HARD  Gary Soto
This is the third collection by one of the most widely praised and widely reviewed younger American poets. "At his frequent best, Soto may be the most exciting poet of poverty in America to emerge since James Wright and Philip Levine."—Alan Williamson, Poetry

EMPLUMADA  Lorna Dee Cervantes
"She writes out of a strong sense of family, of sacred and profane and damaged place, of being a woman—daughter, granddaughter, sister—of being Chicana."—Marge Piercy. "Highly recommended."—Library Journal

NORTHERN SPY  Chase Twichell
"The physical descriptions are sensitively drawn and precise.
. . . [The] lines come alive with vivid memories of childhood or love."—Publishers Weekly

TRYING TO SURPRISE GOD  Peter Meinke
"An entertaining book of impressive versatility, the poems ranging from camp to lyric to growls of protest."—Edward Field

THE MIDDLE OF THE WORLD  Kathleen Norris Library Journal said of Kathleen Norris' first book, "Deft and incisive, with a strong wit . . . Norris is a spellbinder." Her new book reflects these qualities and her strong gifts as a storyteller.

RUBY FOR GRIEF  Michael Burkard Writing in Ironwood of Burkard's first book, James Cervantes said, "Burkard's poetics will be considered new and strange to many readers, though Stevens, Zukofsky, and Ashbery were scouts to this light-laden terrain. . . . [His] book is a blessing."

These books are available at $10.95 hardback, $4.50 paperback at your bookseller or directly (add 50c for postage) from the publisher.
