1986

Classified

Marvin Bell

Follow this and additional works at: https://ir.uiowa.edu/iowareview
Part of the Creative Writing Commons

Recommended Citation
Available at: https://doi.org/10.17077/0021-065X.3320

This Contents is brought to you for free and open access by Iowa Research Online. It has been accepted for inclusion in The Iowa Review by an authorized administrator of Iowa Research Online. For more information, please contact lib-ir@uiowa.edu.
The curved eye wants to fit into the sky. Even in the snow, even in the water. It’s a Midwest low-line, a report heading toward belief. Outside. Apart. Alone. Not lonely.

So you know where we stand.

Classified

I am no more stupid now than I ever was; I am the same. The end of tomorrow is no further away than it ever was. If no one had occasionally moved them, or fuelled them, the end of our todays would be frozen like a field of old bolts in their military silos, and wouldn’t that be a kick in the flowers for all the earthshaking dreams that caught us. Wanted: a few good men and women who won’t do their jobs.