THE NEVADA GLASSWORKS

Ka-Boom! They’re making glass in Nevada!
mom’s 13, it’s hot as a simile.
Ker-Pow! Transmutation in Nevada!
Imagine mom: pre-PostModern new teen,
innocent for Elvis, ditto “Korean conflict,” John Paul George Ringo Viet Nam.
Mom’s 1 state west of the glassworks, she’s
in a tree / k*i*s*i*n*g, lurid cartoon-colored kisses. Ka-Blam!
They’re blowing peacock-tinted New World glass
in southern Nevada, the alchemists & architects of mom’s duck-&-cover
adolescence, they’re making Las Vegas
turn to gold—real neon gold—in the blast
furnace heat that reaches clear to Clover Ranch in dry Central Valley: O the dust—
It is the Golden State! O the landscape—dreaming of James Dean! O mom in a tree close-range kissing as in Nevada just now they’re making crazy ground-zero shapes
of radiant see-through geography.
What timing! What kisses! What a fever
this day’s become, humming hundred degree California afternoon that she’s sure she could never duplicate, never,
she feels transparent, gone—isn’t this heat
suffocating?—no, she forgot to breathe
for a flash while in the Nevada flats factory glassblowers exhale . . . exhale . . .
a philosopher’s stone, a crystal ball,
a spectacular machine. Hooray! Hats off—they're making a window in the sand!
Mom's in the tree—picture this—all alone!
Unforgettable kisses, comic book mnemonic kisses, O something's coming out of the ranch road heat mirage. That drone—an engine? Mom quits practice & looks east, cups an ear to the beloved humming, the hazy gold dust kicked wildly west ahead of something almost . . . in . . . sight. Vroom!
It's the Future, hot like nothing else, dressed as a sonic-boom Cadillac. O mom!
This land is your land/This land Amnesia—they're dropping some new science out there, a picture-perfect hole blown clear to Asia: everything in the desert—Shazam!—turns to glass, gold glass, a picture-window where the bomb-dead kids are burned & burn & burn

No matter how far we back away from ourselves this scene will not reveal itself as a movie set. Not the low building not the couple meeting out front & not the desk clerk who is sick of it all. The sign flashing dirty green/pink/off & on again eludes through its perfectness—a dull trick—the possibility of being a propmaster's deceit.

STOP HERE/X-L MOTEL/STOP HERE.
Because this is all there is to know we know that someone here is desperate.
