Edward M. Cassady was born at Painesville, Lake County, Ohio, September 25, 1848, and died at Whiting, Iowa, February 1, 1928. He attended common school during his youth and in February, 1864, enlisted in Company A, Tenth United States Infantry, at Cleveland and served in the Army of the Potomac until the close of the war when he was transferred to Minnesota in the Indian country where he served the remainder of his three years' enlistment. He removed to Fremont County, Iowa, the fall of 1867, and to Monona County the spring of 1868, where he became a farm hand, but soon bought some wild land and began breaking and farming it. He farmed until 1880 when he removed to Whiting and formed a partnership with Will C. Whiting where they became dealers in general merchandise, lumber, implements, and grain. Mr. Cassady assisted in founding the Whiting Bank of which he became president. At the same time he continued to conduct very extensive farming operations, the breeding of Hereford cattle, and cattle feeding. He held several township offices and in 1906 was elected representative, and was re-elected in 1908, serving in the Thirty-second and Thirty-third general assemblies. He was father of Raymond W. Cassady, Iowa's first secretary of agriculture, who died in 1924.

Ralph Otto was born in Iowa City, Iowa, July 18, 1876, and died in Iowa City, February 24, 1928. His parents were Max and Katherine (McInnery) Otto. His early education was obtained in the public schools of Iowa City. In 1898 he obtained his A.B. degree from the Liberal Arts Department of the State University of Iowa, and in 1900 his LL.B. degree from the Law Department. He then entered the practice in Iowa City, but relinquished it in 1902 and acted as court reporter for District Judge Byington from 1902 to 1906, returning to practice at the end of that time. In 1909 he was elected mayor of Iowa City, serving two years. In 1910 he became an instructor, and in 1911 a professor in the Law Department of the University, continuing in that capacity until 1918 when, on the resignation of Judge R. P. Howell in May, 1918, he was appointed by Governor Harding a judge of the
