Harry E. Cox
Henry K. Love, retired U. S. Army officer; died at Kensington, Maryland, April 27, 1947; born in Iowa in 1863, the son of James Madison Love, a native of Fairfax Courthouse, Virginia, a distant relative of President James Madison, and Mary Thomasson Love, of Louisville, Kentucky, who died at his birth. At the outbreak of the Spanish-American war he enlisted in the Rough Riders regiment as a private, and at the close of the war was a sergeant, the late President Theodore Roosevelt, then the regimental commander, describing him as "so straight that he bent over backwards;" also was a soldier in the Philippine insurrection and in World War I, and advanced to the rank of major; thus a veteran of three wars, elderly and beyond retirement age, after the attack at Pearl Harbor, sought some sort of service in connection with the war effort but was rejected, much to his disappointment after visiting the army, the navy and Red Cross headquarters. Major Love's sole survivor is his daughter, Mrs Bonnie Love Von Steiner-Goltl, of Kensington, with whom he resided; his wife, Mrs. Josephine Chase Love, and son, Madison Chase, having died several years ago.

Harry E. Cox, farmer, dairyman and legislator, died at Des Moines, Iowa, June 20, 1947; born upon a farm in Hardin county, Iowa, March 21, 1885, the son of John and Anna Cox, Iowa pioneers at Dubuque; educated in the Hardin county public schools and moved to Webster county, Iowa, in 1912; engaged in the dairy business in 1920 in which he has continued; married Betty Lindholm of Elgin, Illinois, Oct. 22, 1918, and they have one daughter, Mrs. Robert Lacia, residing near Fort Dodge, both of whom survive him; elected representative from Webster county in 1942, and re-elected in 1944; elected a member of the Webster county supervisors in 1946; a member of the Webster county farm bureau, Lions club, Elks lodge, Lutheran church and a Republican.
