2010

A Point In

Alan Felsenthal

Follow this and additional works at: http://ir.uiowa.edu/iowareview

Part of the Creative Writing Commons

Recommended Citation
Available at: https://doi.org/10.17077/0021-065X.6913

This Contents is brought to you for free and open access by Iowa Research Online. It has been accepted for inclusion in The Iowa Review by an authorized administrator of Iowa Research Online. For more information, please contact lib-ir@uiowa.edu.
A POINT IN

we met at the frog, at the meet in a set corner of lattice, in a process of sharing, in the company of concession close by the place, with our faces we met at the crown point in the topmost portion of the whirling turn, the base of a column of wind, the fairness of air pointed at the end of an object, in a line of travel to the ridge of bone, cresting echo of headless end, rivet.

we departed with a tale of painted windows, a floor account of branch, the history of an of, a plot of news, in the legend a hero, a good viewed, casehardened by a box, the sound that hangs thereby in a reckoning of order at the ornament recital, some dock of division, long axis of impression, we departed impressed with a falsehood that thereby hangs, gossip measured in a skull of oil.